

What You Need to Know About Climate Change and the Importance of EVs

with Don Bennett, DAS

Saturday, October 21st
The talk starts at 6:15 PM

What good is having robust future internal health if your future external environment will have a difficult time supporting your body's needs, or if it will be stressful on you emotionally? Climate change is no joke, it's denied at our own peril, and is something that needs to be addressed "yesterday".

The best thing we can do to minimize our carbon/methane footprint is to eat a vegan diet, but coming in a close second is driving an electric car instead of one that runs on fossil fuel. So it's important for all our futures to learn about the benefits of Electric Vehicles to our planet (and your wallet).

It's also important to know about this information to be able to share it with others, because their choice of diet and vehicle can affect their future health as well as yours. So come hear about the kind of vehicle that we must transition to if we want a habitable planet. Learn about the car that actually gets cleaner the longer you own it... and it's available, now.

This talk follows a raw food potluck. For more information about the potluck, go to www.meetup.com/Alive-At-Life/
